Marching Band ~1909.jpg

IMAGE DATE: 1909

IMAGE TITLE: Marching Band

HERITAGE TEXT: Members standing outside of the Old Main Building. Miami’s earliest known marching band photo.
The Glee Club has been a fixture at Miami since its formation in 1907.

Organized in 1903, membership originally included all women, but was limited to liberal arts college coeds after 1910.

In 1902, the Ohio State Normal College opened in Oxford, eventually becoming the School of Education, Health, and Society.
Created in 1910, along with the Student Forum, these organizations constituted the first student government assemblies.

Parade held on High Street in uptown Oxford.

Completion of physical education courses was mandatory until 1971.

The class of 1893 contained eight graduates, including future President Raymond M. Hughes, who gave the Valedictory Oration, “The Spirit of the Scholar.”
The Slant Walk is the primary entry from uptown to campus.

The event pitted sophomores against freshmen in an annual contest to capture a flag mounted atop a greased pole. It was phased out in the 1920s.

The gates were a gift of the Class of 1908. They were replaced in 1973 with new gates, a gift of Phi Delta Theta.
Miami's first dance held with administrative approval was the 1905 Junior Prom.

Located in the basement of Tallawanda Hall, Tuffy's was a favorite student gathering place and home of the toasted roll.

Overseen by President Hahne, commencement celebrated the graduation of 709 students.
